

Tia Johnson
CRAFT Essay

COVID 19 has changed me from having to do anything that doesn't involve school work. When I have spare time from school, I don't have any events or anything to spend my time on so I have been using this time to improve my mental health, my emotional health, and allow my body to relax.

Not attending in person school means that I do not get to see my classmates everyday. I no longer can turn to the side and ask for some help. My classmates were a big help in school. There were always some things that I didn't understand or I needed to be explained in a different way so that I could understand.

Online learning has made the people who decide what the students learn to change the way the students are to be taught. Now the lessons come in bulk and are expected to be completed in a time frame where, in school, only part of the lesson would be taught and spaced out throughout more time. Being able to turn and ask my classmates for some assistance is also a very helpful thing that helped me get through a lot of my schooling.
